WEEKLY WEATHER BULLETIN

FOR THE WEEK ENDED FEBRUARY 27, 1909.

Honolulu, March 1, 1909.

GENERAL SUMMARY.

Usually strong winds, generally "trades," prevailed throughout the week over the entire section.

The mean temperatures were higher than those of the preceding week—and generally considerably so, excepting in the Honolulu district of Oahu, the Koolau district of Maui, and in portions of the Kohala, Hamakua and Hilo districts of Hawaii, where they were slightly lower.

The relief afforded by the rainfall during the preceding two weeks was but temporary, and the need of rain is again being felt in the districts of Hawaii and Maui which have so long and so severely suffered from drought.

The rainfall was below the average for the week of ten or more years at all stations having such records, excepting in the Hamakua and northern portion of the Hilo districts of Hawaii, where it was above.

The deficiencies, in inches, in the several districts were: Kauai—Koolau 1.42, and Waimea 0.87; Oahu—Koolauloa and Koolau 0.12 to 1.41, Honolulu 0.57, Ewa 1.32, and Waianae 1.42; Maui—Hamakua 0.54, Wailuku 0.06, and Lahaina 0.83; and Hawaii—Kona 1.08, Kau 1.26 to 1.32, Puna 1.24, Kohala 0.56 to 0.68, and central and southern portions of the Hilo district 0.14 to 0.97. The excesses in the northern portion of the Hilo district of Hawaii ranged from 0.05 to 1.02, and in Hamakua district of the same island 0.64.

The greatest amounts of rainfall for the week were reported from the windward districts of Hawaii and the higher levels of the Ewa district of Oahu.

The amounts, in inches, in the several districts were: Hawaii—Kohala 0.51 to 0.67, Hamakua 1.59 to 2.08, Hilo 1.56 to 3.12, Puna 0.93 to 2.98, Kau 0.00 to 0.08, and Kona 0.00; Maui—Koolau 1.34 to 1.88, Hamakua 0.54, and Hana 1.0 to 1.27, Kula trace, Wailuku 0.39 to 0.54, and Lahaina 0.16; Oahu—Koolauloa 0.19, Koolau 0.17 to 1.06, Honolulu 0.59, Ewa 0.20 at the lower altitudes and 1.73 to 2.69 at the higher, and Waianae 0.06; Kauai—Koolau 0.26, Puna 0.00 to 0.23, and Waimea 0.07 to 0.12; and Molokai, 0.33 in the southeastern portion and 1.52 in the interior.

There was more rain than during the preceding week in the Hilo—generally, the southern portion of the Hamakua and interior of the Puna districts of Hawaii; at all stations on Oahu, excepting in the Waianae and the northern portion of the Koolauloa districts; in the Koolau district of Kauai, and in the interior of Molokai. The differences, as a rule, were not material—the greatest excess being 2.30 inches, and the maximum deficiency 1.98 inches.

The following table shows the weekly averages of temperature and rainfall for the principal islands and for the Group:

	Temperature.	Rainfall.
Hawaii	69.0 deg.	1.39 inches.
Maui	70.6 deg.	0.82 inch.
Oahu	71.4 deg.	0.80 inch.
Kauai	71.0 deg.	0.14 inch.
Molokai	71.6 deg.	0.92 inch.

At the local office of the U. S. Weather Bureau in Honolulu partly cloudy and cloudy weather obtained, with rainfall on six dates amounting to .59 inch, .57 less than the normal for the week, and .58 more than during the preceding week. The maximum temperature was 78 deg., minimum 63 deg., and mean 70.4 deg., 0.5 deg below the normal, and 0.8 deg lower than last week's. Easterly winds prevailed on the 24th and 27th, and northeasterly on the remaining dates, and for the week, with the unusually high average hourly velocity of 12.4 miles. The mean daily relative humidity ranged from 66 per cent to 74 per cent, and for the week was 69.4 per cent. The barometer was unusually high throughout the week, and ranged from 30.15 to 30.20 inches. The mean for the week was 30.17, 0.21 inch above normal.

Monday, March 8th, in the ever-charming musical comedy success "The Belle of New York." There are not many who have not seen this dashing opera rendered by older and eminent hands, but it is not exaggeration to say that they seem to enjoy the interpretation given it by the juveniles with greater relish. Those who already know what these clever little people can do in this delightful entertainment will need no persuasion to see and hear it again. There are new musical numbers introduced, also new comedy, making the

MORGAN RESIGNS

James F. Morgan has resigned as chairman of the commission in charge of Hawaii's exhibit at the Alaska-Yukon exposition. The exhibit is to be an elaborate one and Morgan says that he cannot give all his time to it and cannot spend the necessary time in Seattle looking after it.

TAKING UP LIQUOR ISSUE

The Civic Section of the Men's League of Central Union church will meet in the parish house at 8 o'clock Friday evening for the purpose of discussing the proposed new liquor law in connection with the present law. Chairman C. G. Ballentyne, of the Liquor Commission has been invited to speak and an effort is being made to have a speaker present for the saloon interests. This meeting will be open to the public.

The bark St. Katherine arrived this morning from San Francisco. The schooner J. H. Bruce has sailed from her anchorage outside for Mahukona.

SUPERVISORS DEFER ACTION

Immediately after the reading of the minutes of two previous meetings, the Board of Supervisors last night adjourned till 8 o'clock this afternoon.

It had proved impracticable during the day for the majority to confer on the appropriate action to take in view of the Supreme Court decision that stopped short of declaring whether the Mayor had an independent power of appointment and of stating what office the Mayor had the duty of filling. The charter is ambiguous on the former question and an utter blank on the latter, as by the common law of the United States, including several decisions of the Hawaiian Supreme Court, no public office can exist excepting by explicit creation of statute or ordinance.

The uncertainty arising out of both the questions mentioned was the sole cause of the deadlock in the first place, and the recent test case has turned out to have been no test at all on the essential matters in dispute.

BAND CONCERT

The Hawaiian band will give a public concert at Ala Park this evening at 7:30 o'clock, the program being as follows:

PART I.
March—The Mayor Berger
Ballad—Farewell Laddell
Slavonic Dance, No. 3 Dvorak

(b) Lullaby, Lullaby Fillpnet
PART II.
Vocal—Hawaiian songs. Ar by Berger
Selection—The Black Brigade Beyer
Waltz—Fillpino Andrews
Finale—Molihana Berger
The Star Spangled Banner.
